Lead Designer • 08.2022 – 10.2023

Led the design of in-app support features for the Capital One app. Worked closely with UX researchers on a diary study to understand how and when users engage with support features in finance apps. Designed the complete flow of a global search feature that enables users to locate content of various types. Expanded the Help Center, resulting in a 84% increase in engagement. Collaborated with product managers to ensure designs balance both business goals and user needs. Based on initial data, the new Search and Help Center are projected to save ~$1M annually by reducing call center volume.

Led the design and advocacy of the site design system which powers Capital One's unified web experience today. Partnered with stakeholders across lines of business (LOBs) to drive adoption of shared design standards. Identified common needs across LOBs and designed scalable solutions to ensure site-wide consistency. Led the design and enhancements of 23 out of 39 components. Helped conduct user testing, analyze data, and generate insights. Created guidelines and documentation to empower LOBs to design independently. Collaborated with engineering teams to improve WCM experience and front-end implementation. Managed junior designers and provided creative direction. In the two years since the first component was built, the self-serving platform has enabled 2000+ webpages, 500+ content deployments, and supports 100M+ monthly visitors.
